Zea mays: Alimento de apogeo y decadencia de las civilizaciones en América From Tlacoyo to Biodisel and beyond!

Participate in this revealing 5-day long, yet life lasting exploration of our roots and destinies, as we indulge in the celebration of the coevolution and power of a corn tortilla and of its true price.

Enjoy a daylong exploration of intercultural discoveries on prehispanic cuisine, ancestral roots, ethnobotany, history, economy and yourself throw art, cooking and storytelling.

Level: beginners

Available spots: 10 students multi-age group starting at 6 years of age

Restrictions: none all food is gluten free, dairy free.

Preliminary Program below

Zea mays

Day 1 Hors d'oeuvre

55 million years of co-evolution: A selected crop and degustation of local knowledge and food of ancestral sovereignty.

An interactive exhibit of corn products.

Soup

Nutritional base for La Raza de Bronce: A delicate exploration of nutritional value of Zea mays in pre-Hispanic times, garnished with organic ideas and fresh minds.

Sculpting clay figurines of all gods and goddesses related with corn

Day 2 Appetizer

Assorted choice of Nahuatl sounds and flavors tlacoyo, atole, tlayuda and zacahuil flambéed with the flame of artistic expression.

Portraying a Naturaleza muerta painting all these lively corn products

Salad

A mighty duo: Maiz cacahuazintle and lime, a gift from Cintéotl Pozole for lunch!

Day 3 Main course

Ancestral roots grappled in a handmade tortilla of finely grinded blue corn flour Learning to make hand-made tortillas

Day 4 Dessert

The scent of Mexican faith: Handmade Gorditas de La Villa baked on an anafre lighted with mesquite wood charcoal, served on a miracle granted by Tonatzin Storytelling and dessert for all senses around a warm anafre

Day 5 Mignardise

A selected choice of challenges: biodiesel, food additives and sweeteners accompanied by Gran Reserve drinks: Guarapo, Tejuino, Tascalate, Pozol and Tejate. Vintage 2022. ¡Hasta pronto! Seeds of change.....

Cheef Cintéotl: Aztec good of corn